County Institute.

The Teachers' Institute convened at Oregon February 23rd. There were but few teachers from a distance. The extreme cold weather and quarantines of our neighboring towns interfering with the attendance. Prof. Kellogg, of Maitland, was here. He has never failed to be at all these gatherings and lend his aid to the work which his hands in this county. Grant Landon also came through the cold and storm to attest his zeal in the work. Other teachers in attendance were of the immediate vicinity. There was no forenoon session. At 1:30 Prof. Kieff called the institute to order and proceeded with the program. An appropriate song was rendered by members present. A few minutes were given to reports from various parts of the county. Prof. Kellogg reported for Maitland, and showed his school to be in a sound, progressive condition. Grant Landon reported his school a progressing in a manner satisfactory. Mr. Murphy, of Union, gave a flattering account of his school. He is an enthusiastic, thoroughly imbued with the aggressive, progressive spirit and makes the work more where he presides. Prof. Kieff reported the Oregon school in a sound condition, manifesting bright omens for the future. Then a paper was read by Prof. Kellogg on "The Qualification of the Teacher." It was so full of practical suggestions, had not fully developed his theme, but foreshadowed an able paper. We would have been pleased to have followed him to the end indicated by his premises. Some discussion was indulged in and brought to notice some valuable points. Miss Morris, assistant of Oregon High School, then discussed on the nature of teaching. As usual she left but a feeble hint for the critic in general discussion. Her paper was scholarly and positive. It showed that morality can be taught in our public schools without sectarianism but the teacher must be a living example of moral teaching. Practice, not theory, moulds the youthful mind. Miss Kieff's paper was a little speculative philosophy on the theme "Public Sentiment." She touched upon many examples where public sentiment has been the cause of the race of beneficent in its tendency, it is safe to follow, but if followed to extremes it may culminate in fanaticism and anarchy. It may be regarded in teaching as long as it is in conformity with the highest interest of the school, but must not interfere or retard its management. After a short discussion of some phases of the paper, Prof. Kieff and Mr. Fry rendered a beautiful duet, "Like the Lark." Miss Lulu Dobyns accompanying. It was a beautiful rendition and did much to lighten the monotony of the proceedings. The question for debate, Resolved that the negro problem can be best solved by a separation of the races, was affirmed by Prof. Kieff. He claimed that amalgamation was neither desirable nor possible because forbidden by the instincts of both races. That races antagonistic by nature could not dwell together and have many together, and to fuse the whites and blacks into one, would destroy the better qualities of both. The present race of incomes, political disfranchisement, and a growing antagonism between the races in the south makes this a problem of mighty import, and demands the attention of every citizen. He would educate them, qualify them for the highest duties of American citizenship. Secure to them the full, rich measure of their rights, and justice is done. They will then acquire individuality, strengthen manhood. This done, they will either leave a locality where turmoil, confusion and injustice reign, or they will stay and where greater inducements are offered them, the despoiled of Europe or buy the estates of their former master and let them go to the virgin soil of the west. Mr. Murphy supported the negative in an able defense, which the writer has not at hand and can't give in detail. No decision was taken and both gentlemen claim a victory and things move on just as before. A good number of our citizens attended. Their presence did much to cheer and encourage the patrons and friends of the institute. Ample provisions were made to entertain all who might have attended, and we are sorry not to have had our expected guests. The institute adjourned to meet at Forest City, the 1st Saturday in April. Prof. Johnson to prepare the next program and preside.

—The Close.

On last Friday, February 22nd, Fairview school closed a very pleasant term's work. On account of the gale from the north during the previous night, the teacher no longer indulged the hope of seeing all his pupils on the last day. But to his surprise, despite the extreme rawness of the day, all from largest to the smallest, were there.

According to arrangement the general review of the term's work was begun. As the pupils were not only because they have gratified our appetites with such an abundance of good things, but, that by this act, and by their hearty cooperation with teaching and pupils they have shown a deep interest in the important work of training up the youth of the land.

Appreciated.

Captain Posegate in reply to a letter from Mr. Montgomery of this city, congratulating him on his splendid and brilliant race made on the 10th inst., replies as follows:

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., February 21, 1889.

MY DEAR FRIENDS: I have your postal of this date and thank from away down in my heart. I do not feel but over my defeat—the magnificent tribute to me here of 1163 majority in the city, and 149 in the county is more than consolation to me. It is the vindication of my life. And then comes Old Holt with her 492 majority. How can I thank you people—only by promising to try and always be worthy of their confidence. Remember me to all my friends who may chance to meet and thank them for their interest in their splendid efforts in my behalf.

Yours Truly,

F. M. POSEGATE.
